

Nimbus & WiGL WWF 2.0

Many of you may have seen a recent update from Nimbus about our partnership.

WiGL is proud to announce that we have entered a partnership agreement with Nimbus to demonstrate the networking of their light-based Power Relay technology on a grand scale at WiGL's World Fair 2.0 in support of the U.S. Department of Defense (DoD). This is an important partnership for both companies to demonstrate wireless power networking capabilities across multiple frequencies...on a stage that incorporates new radio frequency and light spectrum energy technologies for the DoD.

WiGL's patented wireless power networks allow our all forms of wireless tech to partner and deliver the future of 21st century wireless power. WiGL is honored to include Nimbus in our vision of wirelessly interoperable electromagnetic spectrum networks. We also plan to explore and grow both technologies within DoD to create new applications of touchless wireless power (tWPT). The networking of pioneering and emerging wireless power concepts of operation surrounding light-based wireless energy transfer are very exciting for WiGL. We are honored to help mentor this partner.

The ultimate vision of WiGL's networks is to create smart, tWPT networks using all forms of commercial off the shelf (COTS) hardware. In short, WiGL is looking to quickly create brand new possibilities for consumers. We are also seeking to simultaneously bring together technology creators to tap into the \$25 billion charging solution market.

As you know, this is just one of the many COTS partnerships that WiGL is doing. We are excited about what the future has in store for wireless power!
